Introducing Tobi Onabolu: a purpose-driven artist, filmmaker, cultural producer, and visionary consultant with a global reach extending across Europe, West Africa, and North America. His journey represents a profound exploration of transformative behavioural change through the powerful mediums of art and culture.

At the heart of Tobi's creative odyssey is a deep meditation on self-actualisation, with a mission to foster mindfulness, enhance mental health, and promote well-being by tapping into the mind-body connection. Tobi's unwavering commitment is to centre presence and consciousness, nurturing leaders who possess the capacity to collectively usher in a future characterised by abundance, equity, and inclusion.

In his consultancy work, Tobi collaborates with major corporations to drive behavioural and cultural change. Notable partners include Foot Locker, Bumble, ART X Lagos (the leading international art platform in West Africa), Uber and the Royal African Society
